

The 50-State Unclaimed Money Checklist

Every official place the government — plus banks, pensions, and the IRS — might be holding money with your name on it, and the exact link to claim it.

 Read this first — 3 rules that keep you safe

- 1. Searching is always free. No legitimate state or federal program charges you to search or to claim your own money. If a site asks for a fee to search, leave.
- 2. Beware "finders." Companies that offer to recover your money for a 10–20% cut are usually just doing the free search below. Do it yourself first.
- 3. Check every state you've ever lived, worked, or banked in — not just your current one. Money is held by the state where the company that owed you was located.

Step 1 — The two national searches (start here, 5 minutes)

Search	Link	What it does
MissingMoney.com	missingmoney.com	The official multi-state search run by the National Association of State Treasurers (NAUPA-endorsed). Searches most states at once, free, updated daily.
Unclaimed.org	unclaimed.org/search	NAUPA's official directory — links you to every individual state's program (use for any state MissingMoney doesn't fully cover).

MissingMoney covers most states but not always in real time. After the national search, also check your state's own site directly (Step 2) for anywhere you've lived.

Step 2 — Your state's official unclaimed-property site

Search every state where you've lived, worked, or held an account. All links are official state programs, verified June 2026.

Alabama	unclaimed.alabama.gov	Dist. of Columbia	unclaimedproperty.dc.gov
Alaska	unclaimedproperty.alaska.gov	Florida	fltreasurhunt.gov

New Mexico	tax.newmexico.gov	Wisconsin	revenue.wi.gov
New York	osc.ny.gov/unclaimed-funds	Wyoming	statetreasurer.wyo.gov
North Carolina	unclaimed.nccash.gov

A few states (MS, SC, SD) use a site called findyourunclaimedproperty.com. These are the real, official programs — don't be put off by the unusual address.

Step 3 — The federal sources most people never check

States only hold some kinds of money. These federal programs hold the rest.

What's owed	Where to search	Notes
Tax refund you never got	irs.gov/refunds	"Where's My Refund?" — if you never filed a year you were owed a refund, you generally have 3 years to claim it.
Money from a failed bank	closedbanks.fdic.gov	FDIC search for unclaimed insured deposits from banks that failed.
Money from a failed credit union	ncua.gov	NCUA equivalent for credit unions.
A pension you lost track of	pbgc.gov	PBGC's unclaimed-pension search (last name + last 4 of SSN).
Old / matured U.S. savings bonds	unclaimed.org/search	⚠ The old "Treasury Hunt" bond search was retired Sept 2025. Lost-bond searches now go through your state's unclaimed-property program.
FHA mortgage-insurance refund	entp.hud.gov/dsrs/refunds	If you ever had an FHA-insured mortgage, HUD may owe you a premium refund.
Unpaid back wages	dol.gov/whd/wow	Dept. of Labor "Workers Owed Wages" — employers that owed wages the DOL recovered.

Step 4 — Found something? Two-minute claim checklist

- ☐ Confirm it's really you (name + an address you've lived at).
- ☐ Use the official site only — never a third party that contacted you.
- ☐ Have ready: photo ID, proof of address (current or past), Social Security number.
- ☐ Submit the claim directly. Most states process online; some mail a check in 30–90 days.
- ☐ Free. Always free. (See Rule 1.)

Brought to you by Money You're Owed — the channel that helps you claim what's rightfully yours. New videos every week.

This checklist is general educational information, not financial or legal advice. All links are to official government or program sites and were verified as of June 2026; sites occasionally change addresses — if a link moves, search "[your state] unclaimed property official."
